Hello, I currently am a customer of microsoft (indirectly), and I must express to you my great displeasure with the trivial recommended penalties against this foul-smelling behemoth. Please do not openly accept these wrist-slap intensity sanctions against the company, as they are influential enough as it is to suppress any attempt at succession in their industry.

I thank you greatly for your attention to my concern on this matter, and please, choose principal over quick money, the markets will wait, microsoft IS NOT worth it - we are.

Remember: "...I make a million dollars every two hours..." - Bill Gates, gloating.
